Section A

Los Santos de La Humosa - Anchuelo

The tour begins at the Oak Grove Street, from where two dirt roads. We will take the road that goes straight. A few meters from the beginning forks and follow the path that turns left.

This path is characterized by having its first stretch up and down slightly accentuated and the presence of isolated specimens of oaks and oak.

The landscape changes as we go, we see large areas of upland crops and hills. We arrived at the casting of the Trough, where the path splits and take the left. From this point you can see a beautiful landscape.

Once we cross the railway line, we will be only 400 meters to Anchuelo, the Avenue of the lease.

Section B

Los Santos de La Humosa - Santorcaz

Begin in Oak Grove Street where two parts dirt roads, take the path on the left. Go straight ahead until you reach an area of olive groves. At this point we leave the road turn left and go through the olive grove.

A few meters out a dirt road on the left. We can see how far the railway high speed. From here we descend a steep slope down to a grove of pines.

We get down to the road where we turn right. Here special care, since the visibility is very low. We are about 500 meters to Santorcaz.

At the entrance we can see Santorcaz the Chapel of Our Lady of Hortales.

Section C

Anchuelo - Santorcaz

Street parties Corpa Road, climbed up to a square where a repeater is located. Here the road forks and take the road to the left. From this point we can see the town of Anchuelo.

A few meters from the road fork again, go right and left Corp will go to Santorcaz. Following the road to Santorcaz, cross dry cereal and you can see the town of Santorcaz.

Section D

Anchuelo - Corpa

Street parties Corpa Road. This first section to the repeater is common with the previous installment. At the top will take the deviation to the left. Before proceeding, from there we can enjoy the scenery.

We and a few meters the road again bifurcate, to be left and right Anchuelo to Corpa. Straight on, we find a fork in the road, take the left path. Later we met with the casting Galiana, where we see a sign identifying the same, and turn right.

This casting will take us directly to Corpa. Before reaching Corpa, we can see one of the few remaining vineyards in the area.

Later we crossed the road and came to the fountain known as La Fuente Grande de Corpa. This fountain was built by two master masons, called Francis and Vincent in 1897. The water passes from the pipe to a trough where formerly they used to wash clothes, and watering hole for livestock and to supply the town.

Section E

Santorcaz - Corpa

It starts at the Ermita de San Touch where part of a dirt road. This is the casting Galiana. Galiana walked down the casting, which leads directly to Corpa, along the road signs are indicative of the track livestock.

The end of this section is common with the stretch of Anchuelo Corpa.

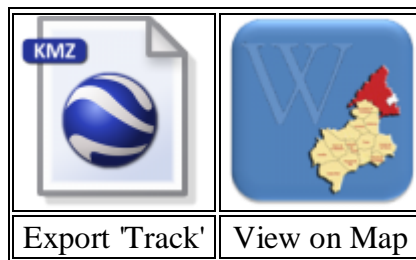

Section F

Pezuela de las Torres - Corpa

We leave the dirt road that leaves the sign indicating the end of the municipality of Pezuela de las Torres, the road to Olmeda de las Fuentes. We went through grain fields until we find a source. Here the road forks, the left path that leads us to Nuevo Baztán Valmores along the path, we take the right path.

We walked down this road until we came across another road we took to the right. We follow this road until you reach the road from Corpa to Pezuela de las Torres.

Once we reached the road to the left by it. We take special care, it is quite a busy road. As soon we will be 1.5 miles to Corpa.

Section G

Villalbilla - Anchuelo

We left the tour that leaves Villalbilla sports, which parallels the creek toward the village the Oak Grove. We take Santonin Street, where the street ends, begins a journey where we see the cattle track sign. \ \ Continue this way until we find another way out to the left, we will take and continue straight until you reach the repeaters. This road is known locally as the Way of the Treasury.

One that we have repeaters Anchuelo left. If we continue we can link straight to the sections that will Santorcaz and Corpa.
